Hand steamers am saning coasers. It which out its ease in trouble-some to large craft.

The steam roller has been busily at work on the newly macadamized part of Queen street, and on Monday afternoon it was used as a traction engine and drew without difficulty a heavy truck earrying a boiler for the tup Pele, weighing together some 8 tons, which without its agency would have necessitated the services of some 10 horses.

Queen-struct, having been thoroughly covered with crushed stone, levelled and bedded by the steam roller, has received a top-dressing of black saind. A thoroughly constructed drain will carry off the water from Kashumanu street. The prospects are that there will be no more annoyance in rainy weather from mud on Queen street between Evrt and Numanu.

BY AUTHORITY

NOTES OF THE WEEK. THE mail steamer Australia, from the Colonies for San Francisco, will be due here on Monday Ir was intended that a meeting of the Board of Health should have been held in the latter part of this week, but it was unavoidably postponed. THE tug Pele has received a new boiler, and has been recaulted and thoroughly overhauled. She will soon be ready for service again. Our thanks are due to Mr. E. C. Winston for late papers from San Francisco, and to Capt. Le Ballister, of the Cassie Hayward, for similar fav-LETTERS from Kapapala, Kau, state that copious rains had fallen there during last week, wherent the hearts of planters were made glad. Accounts from Maui are to the same effect.

HER HIGHNESS Ruth Keelikolani and the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, and other ladies and gentle-men, were the guests of Sir Thos. Hesketh on board the Lancashirs Witch on Wednesday last. We may hardly expect any mail from the States and Europe before Saturday next, when the steamer City of Sydney will bring us twenty days later. It is reported, however, that the H. W. Almy and the Discovery would sail about the 10th. A puntic meeting is called for this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Armory, Queen street, to take into consideration measures for the proper celebration of the King's birth-day, the anniversary of which occurs on the 16th of next month. WE are requested to say that members of the sister Lodge and visiting brethren are invited to meet at the Hall of "Hawaiian" No. 21, F. and A. M., at 3½ p. m. this day, for the purpose of at-tending the funeral of the late John C. Wood.

A MATCH game of base-ball was played yesterday afternoon on the plain east of the city, between a picked nine from the U. S. S. Ticonderoga and a Honolulu nine. There was some excellent play or both sides, but the landsmen beat the sailors making 18 runs to the latter's 9.

THERE have been received at the Interior Office some valuable reports and surveys from Capt.
Jackson referring for the most part to the roads, causeways and bridges, between Kahului, Wailuku, Maalaea and Lahaina; these will be taken into SINCE Wednesday, we have had an interruption of the genial trade winds, light airs from the S.W. and calms prevailing, with cool nights, thermometer at 65°, and hot days. Not by any means healthy weather. Yesterday P. M., however, a breeze came out from the North. SEVERAL draymen have been arrested this week out at night have apparently become posted as to the law requiring carriage lamps, as we hear of no more arrests in that connection. THE schooner Vivid returned to port yesterday from a visit to several guano islands in the South Pacific, (see report in commercial column.) Mr. Arundell, the Company's, agent came up as a pas-senger. She is now loading with stores, &c. for Fanning's Island, and will sail again in a few

AT the foot of Fort Street, the pile driver, under the direction of Capt. Brown, is engaged in put-ting down the piles for a new wharf, to be run out some fifty or sixty feet, to accommodate inter-island steamers and sailing coasters. It will cover a ridge of coral which at low tide has been trouble-with crushed stone, levelled and bedded by the steam roller, has received a top-dressing of black sand. A thoroughly constructed drain will carry off the water from Kashumanu street. The prospects are that there will be no more annoyance in rainy weather from mud on Queen street between Fort and Nuuanu.

On Tuesday evening last, Sir Thos. Hesketh, the On Tuesday evening last, Sir Thos. Hesketh, the owner of the yacht Lancashire Witch, was entertained at a luan in native style, by Her Highness R. Keelikolani and Samuel Parker, Esq., at the residence of the Hon. S. K. Kaai, Palama Road. On Thursday, the yacht left for Hawaii, Sir Thomas intending to visit Hilo and the volcano, Mr. Parker acting as guide and fellow-traveller. MR. G. W. MACPABLANE, while bathing at Wain-has, or this Island, on the 13th inst., in taking a "header" off the bridge, struck heavily on his shoulder and head on the rocks, and was for a time rendered insensible by the shock. Help was fortunately near at hand and he was speedily taken from the water. Medical aid was brought from town, and on Wednesday Mr. Macfarlane, was brought home by steamer, and we are glad to say is now convalescent. Os Friday, the 15th inst., at Koolau on this Island, a South Sea Islander employed on a planta-tion assaulted his wife with a knife, cutting her severely, but not fatally, in various parts of the body and limbs. The woman was taken to the Quen's Hospital for treatment, and the man to the station house for examination and committal, as soon as the wife is able to appear. The "green-eyed monster" jealousy was at the bottom of the With imported stock it appears that we are overstocked, at present. Mr. Bartow held a sale of some fine animals at Levy's stables on Monday, but there was very little competition. Six horses only were sold out of the lot advertised, at prices ranging from $100 to $170, the remainder being withdrawn. Mr. Adams on Wednesday offered a lot of imported "Essex" pigs, but only one was sold, bringing $11, the rest withdrawn. To-day a lot of males and one California horse will be offered at auction by Mr. Adams.

TREEPHONES.—Mr. C. O. Berger, the projector of the "Hawaiian Beil Telephone Company" informs us that all the stock has been subscribed, and that as soon as a charter of incorporation has been obtained the company will proceed to organize by the election of officers, &c. The fifty instruments which had been previously received are all bespoken, and fifty more have been ordered. The company will extend its operations to the other Islands, where it may be expected that the telephone will be exceedingly useful to planters in communicating with the seaports and landings.

On Sunday evening last, at Kawaiahao native church, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Parker, read to a large audience a farewell address to the people, written by Mrs. C. C. Armstrong, widow of the late Rev. Richard Armstrong, for none years a late Rev. Richard Armstrong, we the people missionary to these Islands of the A. B. C. F. M. and latterly the head of the Hawstian Department of Public Instruction. Mrs. Armstrong has been a member of the Kawatahao Church for over 40 years, she having strived here with her husband in May, 1832. She leaves for the East on the steamer lext Monday.

Haus is an Australian cure for Diptheria, said to be very successful. Take some old tin vessel—as empty kerosene can will do—put some burning chargoal at the bettom, then a good layer of the leaves of the encelyptus figure tree), another layer of coal and plenty more leaves fresh from the tree; this causes a dense volume of smoke and steam to rise, which the patient inhales for a few minutes. The result is almost immediate relief and ultimately a cure. Diptheria is not common in this equable climate, but coughs and colds are at some seasons, and the above treatment is worth trying in all such cases.

THE stabbing case at Kau reported last week, has resulted in the death of the woman. Her assailant, who ineffectually tried to kill himself by cutting his own throat, will be brought here by steamer to be held for trial at the November Term of the Circuit Court for Hawaii, at Waimea next month. The fellow appears to have been somewhat theatrical in his preparations for suicide. He tied a piece of crape to the door-knob of his house, locked himself in, and after scattering the contents of two bottles of cologne on the mata, laid himself down thereon and proceeded to cut.

Sudden Death.—Yesterday morning, Mr. J. C.
Wood, a well-known resident of this city, took passage for the district of Ewa on the little schoon or Kapiolani, apparently in usual health. When the vessel got outside the reef and in a seaway.
Mr. Wood who was lying down on the deck load of lumber, was observed to roll overboard. As soon as possible a boat was lowered and the body to the little baing onits extinct. A singu-Wood, a well-known resident of this city, took passage for the district of Ewa on the little schoon or Kapiolani, apparently in usual health. When the vessel got outside the reef and in a seaway. Mr. Wood who was lying down on the deck load of lumber, was observed to roll overboard. As soon as possible a boat was lowered and the body was picked up, life being quite extinct. A singular fact, as stated by the captain is, that altholug nearly ten minutes elapsed from the time of falinto the sea until the body was recovered, it had not sank, but was found in an erect position. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death. Mr. Wood, who had resided here for a number of years, and was much respected, was a native of Heligoland, a British Island off the mouth of the Elbe, and was about 45 years of age. He leaves a widow and one (adopted) child. The funeral is announced for this afternoon at 4 o'clock, from his late residence foot of King street, and will be conducted by Hawaiian Lodge No. 21, F. & A. M., of which he was a member.

OPIUM SMORINO THEATRICALS.-On Tuesday afternoon, the Police made a raid on the Chinese Theatre on the Esplanade, and arrested fifteen of the inmates on a charge of having opium in possession, of which a considerable quantity, together with the regulation pipes and lamps, was found on the premises. The smokers were found in little bunks, built in tiers for the purpose on each side of the stage, just large enough to contain one man and his smoking apparatus. When the police entered the building, there was a stampede, and attempts were made to get out at windows, and to throw away pipes and opium, but the police were in sufficient force to secure both men and implements. At the trial before the Police Magistrate on Thursday, in the case of three of the prisoners a noile prosequi was entered, and six were convicted. One, who it is reasonably believed was concerned in smuggling opium some time since in hollow broom handles, and who was the principal in the present affair, was fined $100 and sent to prison for two months; the other five were fined from $50 to $60 each, with one month's imprisonment. afternoon, the Police made a raid on the Chinese

The Need of Laborers EDITOR SATURDAY PRESS :- In full appreciation of the notice drawn by the Hawaiian wages, the advent of the East Indian, or any other like class of laborers (in sufficient num-bers) would adjust the Chinese monopoly, bers) would adjust the Chinese monopoly, and recuperate the population.

Even were a concession necessary it would appear to contribute towards ameliorating the perils of famine in Hindustan, and be a mutual benefit, and possibly the means ultimately of supplying the United States of America with much needed cheap mechanical and sgricultural labor, for it goes without saying that the present occupants of the ministerial benches at St. Stephen's are very liberal?

St. Stephen's are very liberal?

Luw makers being provided for law breakers, no anxiety should be entertained respecting a just recognition of the decision of Hawaiian Tribunals; for the justice of the Empress of India admits no distinction of high nor low, when the laws of God and man have been outraged. Moreno, the Man of Cheek,

We gather together a few of the kindly otices Moreno receives from journalists who have known the fellow for years.

The San Francisco Post says: Celso Cesar

Moreno is very angry at General Comly, the United States Minister to Hawaii, because he joined with the other foreign representatives in repudiating Moreno as Foreign Secretary and head of the Hawaiian government. General He tied a piece of crape to the door-knob of his house, locked himself in, and after scattering the contents of two bottles of cologne on the mats, laid himself down thereon and proceeded to cut.

For some weeks past a party of men has been employed in the District of Hamakus, East Maui, in blasting rocks to facilitate the flow of the streams that feed Spreekles' Irrigation works. One day last week, the foreman had put in several charges of giant powder, all of which went off with the exception of one, which hung fire. After waiting what was considered a reasonable time, Mr. Wilson went to the spot, immediately on arriving at which the charge exploided, throwing him a considered is now in the Qbeen's Hospital. The shattered arm has been amputated, and the man it is thought may recover, but probably a mere wreek and with the loss of the sight of both eyes.

Suppen Death — Yesterday morning Me. J. C. tection. It is related of Celso Cesar Moreno that he flattered his Kanaka majesty by kneeling in his presence, accosting him as "sire" and assuring him that should be visit China the Emperor would receive him on terms of personal equality and extend the protection of his empire to the Hawaiians as men of the same race and color. In this way he ingratiated himself with the Hawaiian Sovereign, never missing an opportunity of decrying Americans, and declaring that they regarded the King and his little country with contempt. This is the man who ventures to arraign the United States Minister to Hawaii. He is an irresponsible tramp and should be passed along.—S. F. Merchant.

Hawaiian Politics.

The political news from the Hawaiian Islands by the schooner Claus Spreckels, while not so cheerful as might be is not actually discouraging. Business is naturally dull, for confidence, not in the country but in the wis-dom of the Executive, has been sadly shaken. Still we do not think that what has been actually done could justify anything approaching a withdrawal of confidence. The King, momentarily forgetting that he was a constitutional sovereign and not a despotic chief whose word was law, has acted arbitrarily and foolishly and we may say with a sad lack of that open candor which alone can build up natural fogard between a modern ruler and a free reople. We are assured that the King never contemplated that his action could cause so much feeling amongst the best and most responsible of his own people, or amongst the friends of his country in the United States. We can quite believe that his surprise at the result of this action, at its effect on the credit of his country, is unfeigned. We can well understand his claim that his American friends were "too hasty," and his desire to show us that we condemned him without hearing both sides. We have no hesitation in admitting that many things that the King has been accused of have been either untrue or grossly exaggerated. The Merchant, as one of the warm friends of the Islands, has not fallen into these errors. We have said nothing in anger though some things in sorrow, and have nothing to take back. The King has done many foolish things, but the worst he has done for himself has been to exhibit a want of manly straightforwardness. In truth, we be-lieve that the King has learnt a lesson, and that is, that royal blunders are worse than other men's crimes, and to seek to deceive or circumvent a nation is worse than to rob an individual. However, Hawaii is not the first constitutional kingdom that has passed through a crisis, nor is it the first of these exciting events that has befallen our Island neighbers. And after all, these exciting discussions edu-cate a free people, and during their continu-ance the native mind learns rapidly the princi-ples of free government. From to-day the commission of arbitrary acts by the executive will become less probable in Hawaii, because the people will better understand the purport of such assumptions of prerogative, and by quiet but constitutional resistance will make all such illegalities not only ineffectual but cause them to recoil upon their prepetrators. Every such stringgle between the crown and the people should leave the government and the people wiser and better. If the ruling powers of the little kingdom are predent they will try to keep affairs moving along smoothly and harmoniously, and if the people will look around them they will see that there is nothing in the government of any other tropical island in the world for them to envy. The American people wish both king and people prosperity and all the blessings of peace, but —there might be an end to friendly forbearance, and it is very certain that should American interests be endangered by internal dissensions, the power of the United States would make itself felt.—S. F. Merchant,

Ir it be true that King Kalakaus, after the expressions of public opinion against Moreno when the King made him his minister, has sent him abroad with a roving commission in any official capacity, his Majesty's act is deserving of the severest reprobation. The opinion of the whole Island Kingdom was, no doubt, fairly represented by the opinion of Honolulu, and that was so resolutely set against the King's favorite that for his Majesty to retain him in any capacity is a daring exciation of the notice drawn by the Hawaiian Guzetts of the 20th inst., to a letter, on the above headed subject, in your last issue, may I beg to observe that relations on the part of this kingdom with Foreign Powers would appear to be directed to reticence of expression so far as relates to the political aspect of the East Indian coolic suggestion.

Yet such an aspect appears a doubtful fact and if admitted as a fact, a simple solution would apparently suffice to lay it for Hawaii nei, in the disqualification to the franchise of imported laborers.

The true mission of Great Britain is to carry enlightenment, justice and fiberty into all regions of the earth, and her duty to take every measure that prudence and precaution demand to ensure that, whoever they may be, her 200,000,000 of East Indian subjects may thrive, prosper and experience the blessings of good government.

Political economy amongst nations is usually directed in co-operation, and as to a modification of the British statutes toward rate of Political economy amongst nations is usually directed in co-operation, and as to a modificaand his character ought to be made known officially to the representatives of the governments he may come in contact within his travels. Neither the credit nor the honor of Hawaii is safe while this soldier of fortune is permitted even by word of mouth to claim any official connection with that government uncentradicted,—S. P. Merchant.
